CITY LEVEE ASSURED.

Story Will be Made at Once. City to spend $15,000 on Project Assisting Mengel and Railroad Company.

Parties interested in the construction of a city levee have gotten together and are good for this work undertaken in the very early days. In fact, officials of the N. C. Ry., and a representative of the C. M. & St. L. Ry., and a representative of the C. M. & St. L. Ry., were Tuesday to confer with the city committee and Box Co.

Very all details have been worked out and a survey for the levee will likely be made or at least begun.

Or, as we understand it, means a levee from the old levee, below the Box Co. yards, via the yards in these yards, and east of the Mengel and N. C. tracks and hence south to

From the deepest point of the tracks alone four foot levee is erected, with tracks on one side running along the river. The four foot levee back street is so stiff sent to take water as we have again in case of fire it can easily be easily removed bags, being in length.

That is between Box Co. east yard and N. C. depot is to be six feet and a half wider than the present, with width in necessary places. The levee is in the river and the banks, that is to say will remain where they have been built on the north arrangement necessitated by the railroad crossing of one or two tracks on the west.

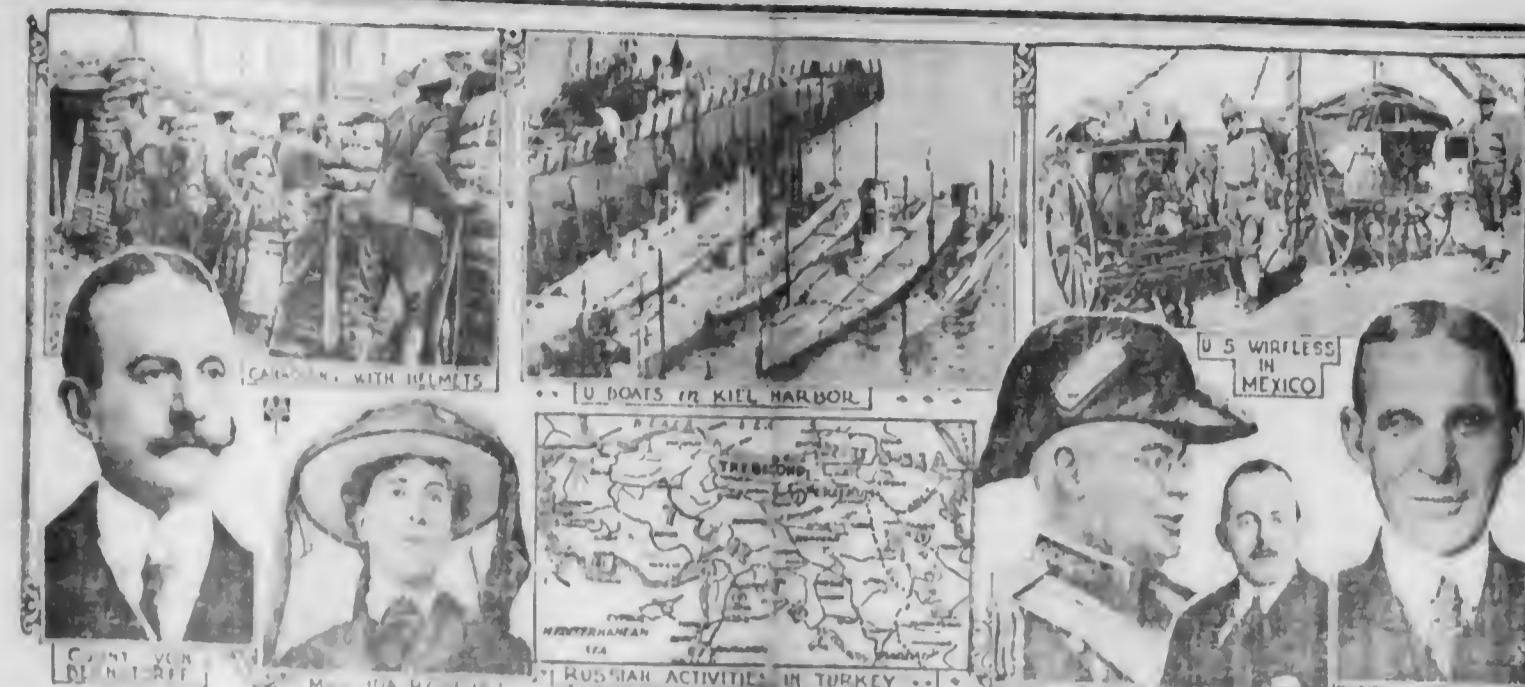

First engineering problem is to add to stand the expense of drainage, let the cost of engineering which is a big item. The C. M. & St. L. Ry. company also engaged a first class engineer to the project with a $3,000 a month. What he has to do is to estimate the cost of the work to be done, and his work will be to see that it will be done in a reasonable time. The company can then go to the care of the engineer to get the job done and save water when the water level is high enough to damage what the river is doing. The contractor stages for weeks at a time between the two tracks and puts been estimated at $10,000, not counting any work in the Mengel yards to be taken care of by this company. Not only will they shoulder the $22,000 balance, but will also be forced to spend a considerable amount not included in this estimate to get their tracks and yards in shape to conform to the new conditions. A levee six feet higher than their present tracks, will put them up against a stiff problem as regards the use of their engine. But Supt. Temperton, who has charge of the road's interests in this matter, is not complaining. In fact, he announces ready for work just as soon as the city can solve its drainage problem.

There seems to be a cordial spirit of cooperation between all parties, and not the slightest manifestation of selfish interests on the part of any of them.

With this kind of team work, among men of business ability and financial responsibility, there certainly will be no loss of the purpose in the process. We shall not be surprised to see work begin on Hickman's city levee during the present month. The prospects are the best ever.

HALF OF 40 PER CENT RAISE WILL STAND.

A delegation composed of Judge E. J. Stahr, Esq. A. M. Shaw, County Atty. J. W. Roney, Sheriff Huddleston and Assessor Jeffries went to Frankfort last week to appear before the State Board of Equalization and make a protest against raising real estate and personal property valuation 40 per cent in Fulton county.

Notwithstanding a good fight put up by the representatives against such a raise, the board finally decided to compromise the matter and give us a raise of 20 per cent. The members of the board stated that Fulton county was paying only on 30 per cent of the cash valuation while other counties of the State were paying on about 50 per cent, and in view of this fact, felt that Fulton county should be raised.

A 20 per cent increase in valuation means an additional half million dollars; resulting in the payment of something like $8000 or $10,000 more taxes to come out of the taxpayers.

ANNUAL CLEAN UP WEEK THROUGHOUT KENTUCKY.

The Courier prints below the full text of a proclamation issued by the State board of health, and though a little lengthy, it should be carefully read by every citizen of the county. It is astounding to learn that almost half the new-made graves in Fulton county were dug because we do not give proper attention to sanitation and health regulations. This is indeed costly carelessness. Shall this continue, or will YOU heed the advice contained in the following proclamation?

Whereas, A careful study of the official returns under the vital statistics law for 1915, about an average year, shows that 65 per cent of all sickness and 41 per cent of all deaths occurring in this State in recent years are from diseases which the health authorities and doctors could have prevented with the intelligent cooperation of all the people, a large part of them from what are known as filth diseases, caused by the almost criminal ignorance and carelessness, even in the best homes and schools, in unsewered towns and country districts, in the disposal of the discharges from the human body, and lack of due vigilance in keeping the home and school premises, and especially the back yards and cellars, absolutely and at all times, clean and healthy; and,

Whereas, These preventable diseases, causing such an enormous sick and death rate, more constantly, as the statistics show, in the small cities, towns and country districts, where people ought to be the healthiest, levy a heavier tax every year, in loss of time, medical drug and nurses' fees, and for premature funerals, than all the taxes paid into the municipal, county and State treasuries for all purposes, can and ought to be prevented, now, therefore,

Be it known, that the State Board of Health, for the reasons above set forth, and by virtue of authority vested in it by law as guardians of health and life, hereby names and set apart the period beginning on Monday, May 8th and ending on Saturday, May 13th, as "Clean-Up Week," and urges every family, teacher and other owner or occupier of premises to gather and burn or remove all refuse from their premises, especially in the back yards and cellars; to treat with plenty of fresh lime all damp and especially soiled spots and then grade them up; to whitewash all houses and out-houses; to look after the grading and tops of wells and cisterns and see that surface drainage is kept out; and, even more important than any of these things, construct "A Kentucky Septic Tank Privy" for every home, school or other building occupied by human beings not on a line of sewers. The cement, gravel or broken rock and sand for such a tank costs from $10 to $25, depending on the size, it can be built by any intelligent person, and it is self-cleaning, odorless, fly-proof and lasts forever, and if they are made the receptacle for all the sputum from consumption, and all discharges from typhoid fever patients and similar diseases, these will soon interest our people no more except as a matter of history. It is important that farmers and householders understand that all these precautions are as desirable for the homes of their tenants and servants as for their own families. The law is now preeminent that these tanks must be constructed for all schools, hotels, court houses and railway stations, and one of our leading circuit judges has recently begun instructing the grand juries of his district to return indictments against all school trustees and others who are responsible for neglect of this sanitary requirement. Notice is now given by this Board that no "health resort" or new mining camp without an approved system of sewers will be permitted to open this season, or in the future, unless tanks are provided for guests, or for employees and their families; and the Board calls upon all civil and health officials, physicians, editors, members of women's clubs, teachers and other organizations and leaders of opinion, to construct these tanks and make the other improvements suggested for their homes, and then, with their own premises as models, start this life-saving campaign among their neighbors and friends. Where, for any reason the tanks can not be constructed at once, the Board urges that existing garden houses be

CHAPTER XVII.

Love in Abeyance.

"POOR Prince!" she sighed pitiably. He started. The remark was so unexpected that he almost betrayed himself. It seemed profoundly personal. "He will be in very hot water, I fear."

He regarded her coldly. "And you want to be on hand to see him squirm, I suppose?"

She took instant alarm. Was she going too far? His query was somewhat disconcerting.

"To be perfectly frank with you, Mr. Schmidt, I am going to Graustark because no one will ever think of looking for me in such an out-of-the-way place. I am serious now, so you must not laugh at me. Circumstances are such that I prefer to seek happiness after a fashion of my own. My parents love me, but they will not understand me. You know that my father fears that I may marry a man distasteful to him, and I suppose to my mother, although she is not so."

"Are his fears well founded?" he asked, rudely interrupting her. "Is there man that he has cause to fear? Are you in love with some one, Bedelia?"

"Do not interrupt me. I want you to know that I am not running away from home, that I shall return to it when I see fit and that I am not in love with the man they suspect."

She was very serious, very intense. He laid his hand on hers, and she did not withdraw it. Emboldened, his hand closed upon the dainty fingers, and an instant later they were borne to his hot lips.

"You have said that I came here in search of a light adventure," he whispered, holding her hand close to his cheek as he bent nearer to her. "You imply that I am a trifler, a light o' love. I want you to understand me better. I came here because I"—

"Stop!" she pleaded. "You must not say it. I am serious—yes, I know that you are serious too. But you must wait. If you were to say it to me now I should have to send you away and—oh, believe me, I do not want to do that. I—I—"

"You love no one else?" he cried rapturously.

She averted slightly, as if incapable of resisting the appeal that called her to his heart, and she scarcely breathed the words:

"I love no one else."

A less noble nature than this would have seized upon the advantage offered by her sudden weakness. Instead, he drew a long, deep breath, straightened his figure, and he gently released the imprisoned hand.

She spoke softly. "It is too soon for us to judge each other. I must be sure—oh, I must be sure of myself. Can you understand? Now, I must go in. No; do not ask me to stay—and let me go alone. I prefer it so. Good night, my comrade."

He stood up and let her pass. "Good night, my princess," he said, clearly and distinctly. She shot a swift glance into his eyes, smiled faintly and moved away.

Two days went by, but there was not a word of love passed between these two who waited for the fruit to ripen. They were never alone together. Always they were attended by the calm, keen eyed Miss Gaston.

On the third day he was convicted of duplicity. She went off for a walk alone. When she came in after an absence of at least two hours the girl went up to her room without so much as a word with him. Her face was flushed and she carried her head disdainfully. He was greatly puzzled.

The puzzle was soon explained. He waited for her on the stairway as she came down alone to dinner.

"You told me that your friends were not in Interlaken, Mr. Schmidt," she said coldly. "Why did you feel called upon to deceive me?"

He bit his lip. For an instant he reflected, and then gave an evasive answer. "I think I told you that I was alone in this hotel, Miss Gule. My friends are at another hotel. I am not aware that—"

"I was morally certain that they were here. Today my suspicions were justified. I encountered Mr. Totten in the park beyond the Jungfrauublick. He was very much upset, I can assure you, but he recovered with amazing swiftness. We sat on one of the benches in a nice little nook and had a long, long talk. He is a charming man. I have asked him to come to luncheon with us tomorrow and to bring Mr. Bank."

"Good Lord, will wonders never—"

She laid her hand gently upon his arm and a serious sweetness came into her eyes.

"Come," she said, "let us go in ahead of Mrs. Gaston. Let us have just one little minute to ourselves, Mr. Schmidt."

When Mrs. Gaston joined Robin and Bedelia at the table, which had been set for them in the salle à manger, she laid several letters before the girl, who picked them up instantly and glanced at the superscription on each.

"You will forgive me, Mr. Schmidt," she said nervously. "I must look at them at once."

An exclamation of annoyance fell from her lips as she read the first one.

"It is from a friend in Paris, Mr. Schmidt," she said, hesitatingly. Then, it occurring to a quick decision: "My father has heard that I am carrying on tryst with a strange young man. It seems that it is a new young man to beside himself with rage."

Robin slipped open another envelope and glanced at its contents. Her eyes flew open with surprise. For an instant she stared, a frown of perplexity on her brow.

"We are discovered!" she cried a moment later, clapping her hands together in an ecstasy of delight. "The others are upon our heels. The time is again. Quick! We must run or we'll be caught!"

"Flight!" gasped Robin. Her eyes were dancing. His were filled with dismay.

"Tomorrow at sunrise," cried Bedelia enthusiastically. "It is already planned, Mr. Schmidt. I have engaged an automobile in anticipation of this emergency."

By the way, why don't you read the other letter?" He was regarding it with jealous eyes, for she had slipped it face downward, under the edge of a plate.

"It isn't important," she said, with a pique look into his eyes. She convicted herself in that glance and knew it in the instant.

At last with herself, she snatched up the letter and tore it open. Her cheeks were flushed. When she had finished she folded the sheets and stuck them back into the envelope without comment. One looking over her shoulder as she read, however, might have caught snatches of sentences here and there on the heavily scrawled page. They were such as these: "You had fed me to hope;" "for years I have been your faithful admirer;" "Nor have I wavered for an instant despite your whimsical attitude;" "therefore I felt justified in believing that you were sincere in your determination to defy your father." And others of an even more caustic nature. "You are going to marry this prince, after all;" "Your father will be pleased to find that you are obedient;" "If I were a prince with a crown and a debt that I couldn't pay;" "admit that I have had no real chance to win out against such odds," etc.

She faced Robin coolly. "It will be necessary to abandon our little bunch can for tomorrow. I am sorry. Still Mr. Totten informs me that he will be in Vienna shortly. The pleasure is merely postponed."

"Are you in earnest about this trip by motor tomorrow morning?" demanded Robin darkly. "You surely cannot be!"

"I am very much in earnest," she said decisively. "Goodness, I know I shall not sleep a wink tonight."

"We are discovered," she cried a moment later, clapping her hands.

Worn Out?

No doubt you are, if you suffer from any of the numerous ailments to which all women are subject. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, weak, tired feeling, are some of the symptoms, and you must rid yourself of them in order to feel well. Thousands of women, who have been benefited by this remedy, urge you to

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., says: "Before taking Cardui, I was, at times, so weak I could hardly walk, and the pain in my back and head nearly killed me. After taking three bottles of Cardui, the pains disappeared. Now I feel as well as ever did. Every suffering woman should try Cardui." Get it today.

where she was and evinced great surprise when informed in a voice loud enough to be heard half block away that she was on her way to Graustark.

Then he drove Mrs. Blithers off to the Gare de Elitz and took the express to Vienna. He would see to the loan first and to Maud afterward.

Going back a day or two, it becomes necessary to report that while in Vienna the perverse Hedella played a shabby trick on the infatuated Robin. She stole away from the Bristol in the middle of the night and was halfway to the Graustark frontier before he was aware of her flight. She left a note for him in which she said:

"For you the going away is this: it is for the best. I must leave now to myself, dear friend, as far as reflection unstructured by the presence of a natural enemy to compose. At the same leaving you in the world, graustark, the night before, I will say to you my solemn promise with a few days I shall tell you where I was. I can be found if you like. I will come to me. Then I may not be fully aware in my mind that our adventure has reached its climax. You have said that you would accompany me to Graustark. I am leaving this night for that country, where I shall remain in seclusion for a few days before acquainting you with my future plans. It is not my intention to stay in Edelweiss at present. The new paper promises a state of general fare over the coming visit of Mr. Blithers. On the return of the prince, both of us are very much in the public eye just now. I prefer the quiet of the country to the excitement of the city, so I shall seek some lonely village and give myself up to all my perverse meditation." As she doffed her bonnet, he could tell whether she was a matron or a captain—capricious and painted.

"I am William W. Blithers," said the matinilion dire sharply.

"I am an official guide and interpreter," announced the young man laevly.

His alert eyes were searching the crowd along the street, in the balconies and windows with an eager intensity. He was looking for the sweet familiar face of the loveliest girl on earth. If she were there he wondered what her thoughts might be on beholding the humble R. Schindt in the role of a royal prince receiving the adulations of the loving multitude!

Passing the Regenetz, his eyes swept the rows of cheering people banked upon its wide terrace and verandas. He saw Mr. and Mrs. Blithers well down in front, and for a second his heart seemed to stand still. Would she be with them? It was with a distinct sense of relief that he realized that she was not with the smiling Americans.

Mr. Blithers waved his hat and, instead of shouting the incomprehensible greeting of the native spectators, called out in vociferous tones:

"Welcome home! Welcome! Hurrah!"

"Oh, what a remarkably handsome, manly boy he is, Will," sighed Mrs. Blithers.

Mr. Blithers nodded his head proudly. "He certainly is. I'll bet my head that Mandie is crazy about him already. She can't help it, Lou. That trip on the Jupiter was a godsend. We'll have plain sailing from now on, Lou."

Mr. Blithers indeed experienced plain sailing for the ensuing twenty hours. It was not until just before he set forth at 2 the next afternoon to attend by special appointment a meeting of the cabinet in the council chamber at the castle that he encountered the first symptom of alarms ahead.

He had sent his secretary to the castle with a brief note suggesting an early conference. It naturally would be of an informal character, as there was no present business before them. The contracts had already been signed by the government and by his authorized agents. So far as the loan was concerned there was nothing more to be said.

There was a dim threat cloud on the financial horizon, however, a vague shadow at present too prophetic of storm. It was perfectly clear to the mind that when these bonds matured Mr. Blithers would be in a position to exact payment, and as they matured in twelve years from date he was likely to be pretty much alive and kicking when the hour of reckoning arrived.

Mr. Blithers was in the mood to be amiable. He anticipated considerable pleasure in visiting the ancient halls of his prospective grandfather.

The next check to the plausibility of Mr. Blithers came with the brief note in reply to his request for an informal conference. The lord chamberlain curtly informed him that the cabinet would be in session at 2 and would be pleased to grant him an audience of half an hour, dependent on his promptness in appearing.

COMBINATION JAIL, AND FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The city fathers are now planning to erect a building, about 35x60 feet, two stories, which is to be used as a fire department, in which our new fire engine is to be kept, with a city jail on the same floor. The second story will be arranged for living quarters for the fire chief, who under the new arrangement, will also act as jailer for the city.

A committee composed of W. A. Johnson and A. O. Carnuthers, is working out the details.

The building will likely be located just east of the foot of the Court House steps, on the old "caboose" lots, and will cost, we understand, in the neighborhood of $4000. Of what material it is to be constructed has not yet been determined.

The city jail feature is a new one, but from a point of economy, it sounds good. For the month of April the city paid out something like $45.00 for keeping prisoners in the county's jail.

The members of the Rook Club and their husbands were delightfully entertained Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 11 by Mrs. D. B. Wilson. Rook was enjoyed and during the games punch was served. Mr. Allen, of Brown Lumber Co., of Louisville, who has been here for the past two weeks, has returned to Louisville.

There is a well authenticated report that Russia will soon be in the market for 2,000,000 pairs of shoes. If this is true, and if other nations come into the American market soon, as is reported, there is no telling how high prices will jump. The situation is serious and one that demands serious consideration.

SHOES $10 A PAIR PREDICTED FOR 1917.

From an over abundance of shoes and leather we are plunged to the verge of a famine.

Here's the shoe situation: Tan kid shoes will retail for $10 a pair next year.

Other shoes will increase in price proportionately.

Shoes selling this year for $3.50 and $4.00 per pair will cost from $5.00 to $6.00.

Leathers of all kinds are becoming harder and harder to get every day. Amerien is on the verge of a shoe famine.

While the present price seems high and in fact consumes about 35 per cent of the total revenue—the council was given ample proof that Hickman is not paying as much as many towns of the same size in this section for the same service, and was convinced the local people were reasonable enough in their figures.

SLIGHT REDUCTION IN PRICE LIGHT AND WATER.

In renewing the water and light contract for another year between the city and the local light and water company, a small concession was made the city Monday night, the price this year being $4000 against $4,200 for the year just closed. Along with this concession, they agree to dispense with the public watering trough near the Court House.

THINGS WE NEVER SEE.

A sheet from the bed of a river,
A tongue from the mouth of a flame,
A toe from the foot of a mountain
And a page from a volume of steam.

A wink from the eye of a needle,
A nail from the finger of fate,
A plume from the wing of an army,
And a drink from the bar of a gate.

A hair from the head of a hammer,
A bite from the teeth of a saw,
A race on a course of study,
And a joint from a limb of the law.

A clock that is drawn on a sandbank,
Some fruit from the jamb of a door,
And people who get better bargains,
Than at Dobson's 5-10-25c Store.

RHEUMATIC PAIN STOPPED.

The drawing of muscles, the soreness, stiffness and agonizing pains of Rheumatism quickly yield to Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the painful part. Just apply as directed to the sore spots. In a short time the pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth. ELLISON SAYS.

He does not believe in pushing the sale of a medicine unless he knows that it gives his customer satisfaction. He pushes "Lemonade" as he knows it does the work. It is not surprising that "Lemonade" is proving such a good seller as most everyone needs a good Liver Regulator and all of us detect the unpleasant effects of alcohol.

Lemonade does not gripe, sicken or salivate, and is very pleasant to take. If you don't believe it is good try a bottle and be convinced. You cannot loose as it is guaranteed to give satisfaction by Helm & Ellison or Any Live Druggist Who Pleases His Customers.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE.

One Of Interest To Our Readers.

Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitate to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Hickman man is confirmed after three years.

Askin Weatherly, Hickman, says "I was a victim of kidney complaint. I had to get up many times during the night to pass the kidney secretions and was all tired out in the morning. I deteriorated and tried a lot of medicines, but to no avail. Finally, I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Helm & Ellison's Drug Store. They made my kidneys normal and improved my condition in every way."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mr. Weatherly said: "You are at liberty to use my statement. I gave some years ago, recommended Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy —get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mr. Weatherly. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Resolutions respecting J. A. Thompson, deceased, adopted by the Official Board of the First Methodist church of Hickman, of which board the deceased was a member for more than 20 years.

Whereas, Death has invaded our ranks and taken from us a consistent Christian, a loyal and faithful church member, a painstaking and efficient official, and a brother much beloved by his co-laborers in the church and most highly esteemed by all who knew him, therefore be it resolved:

First: That we feel most keenly the irreparable loss we have sustained in the passing away of this true man of God.

See: That we will ever fondly cherish the memory of his strong, beautiful life and character and unstinted service to the public welfare that we will ever strive to measure up to the high standard of life and duty which he unconsciously set for us, trying always to keep in the shining pathway he traveled, that leads up to those lofty realms, where our noble brother is now forever at home with the Lord.

Third: That we tender the bereaved family our sincere sympathy and prayers and also present them a copy of these resolutions. That a copy be furnished the Hickman Courier for publication and also the Midland Methodist and the Christian Advocate.

Signed for the Board by the committee,

R. C. Douglass,
F. T. Randle,
A. O. Carnthers.

Tuesday the petit jury which served at the special term last week was empanelled as the regular petit jury, J. H. Pickett and W. N. Brasfield added to the list in place of others excused.

Fifty-one Commonwealth cases were contained with bench warrant issued for each defendant.

Red Mobley and Rollie Crane, tried in Quarterly Court, dismissed.

The following are filed away, with leave to re-docket at any time: Carl Ihondes, murder; Walter Boaz (col.), violating local option law; A. E. Tinsley, carrying concealed deadly weapon and assault and battery; C. A. Hastings, B. B. Nally, A. B. Anthony and R. D. Daems, violating local option law.

The following were dismissed: Clarence Kimes, horse stealing; W. Cathoun, grand larceny; Des Montgomery, breach of peace; Wade Harris, assault and battery; W. A. Maxwell, forgery.

Vester Davis, violating local option law, tried by jury and fined $50 and ten days in jail.

R. B. Marshall, grand larceny, tried by jury and found not guilty. This case went on trial Tuesday and was given to the jury late yesterday. It was a hard fought one on both sides, the State having 24 witnesses and the defense 15. Marshall was accused of stealing a sow belonging to Indian Choute. The State was represented by Atty. Adams, Rooney, Holifield and Moorman, defense by Atty. Webb, Crossland, Flatt, Moore and Shaw. In the course of argument, Atty. Crossland was adjudged in contempt of court and was ordered confined in jail by Judge Gardner for making insulting remarks about opposing counsel and to the court. The jury decided the case last night and was released by the court. We understand the jury stood 11 to 1 for acquittal on the first ballot.

The grand jury returned 8 indictments up to the time court convened this morning.

A WASTE OF MONEY.

The Courier is in receipt of a pamphlet gotten out by the steel trust, telling of a proposed waste of $11,000,000 to build a government armor plant. It contains some pretty good argument and others to make armor plate for $395 per ton whereas $125 is now being paid.

It is strange—and not so strange either—that the Bethlehem Steel Co. did not reduce the price until the government proposed to make its own armor. Of course there will be a waste of money—we don't think.

CUT PRICES

We have just closed a deal with the Hickman Wagon Company for all finished wagons on hand and we bought these at a very low figure, from the fact that they didn't care to ship them to their new plant at Clarksdale, Miss., which would incur a great deal of expense, and we are offering these wagons as long as they last at the following prices:

One-Horse Wagon, with bed and plain seat, for	$37.50
Two-Horse Wagon No. 2 1/2, high wheels, less bed, for	32.00
Two-Horse Wagon No. 2 3/4, any height wheels, less bed, for	38.00
Two-Horse Wagon No. 3, stiff tongue, wheels any height, less bed, for	38.00
Two-Horse Wagon No. 3, slip or coach tongue, less bed, for	42.00

You will notice that these wagons are all quoted less beds, with exception of the one-horse wagon, and the price of the bed comes extra, according to the size.

We will carry the same guarantee as heretofore and will always have repairs on hand.

Now at these prices we are going to move the wagons, and move them quick, and if you are figuring on needing a wagon within the next year or two think it will pay you to call at once and buy several for your later requirements.

CLAUDE HALE KILLS TOM ANDERSON.

Claude Hale, a resident of this city, who operates a saw mill and plantation at Tyler, Ky., in the lower end of the county, is under arrest in Hickman, charged with killing Tom Anderson.

We do not vouch for the facts in the case and merely relate what we gather from reports concerning the tragedy. These are to the effect that Mr. Hale and a man named Vernon Holt had some trouble Sunday afternoon on the train while enroute from Hickman to Tyler. After they had reached their destination, the trouble was renewed. In the course of the quarrel, Mr. Hale fired one shot from his pistol, missing his antagonist and hitting Tom Anderson, a bystander. The ball took effect in Anderson's forehead, producing a wound from which the victim died the next morning.

Sheriff Hundleston was notified of the trouble and went to Tyler and arrested Mr. Hale, who is now in jail here, pending an investigation of the killing, which is now in the hands of the grand jury.

The unfortunate affair is deplored by the friends of both parties.

Tom Anderson is a man of about 25 years, married and has two children. He is a timber cutter and a member of the Knights of Columbus.

He has many friends throughout the county. He is also a man of family, is of middle age and prominently connected.

We are unable to learn anything about Mr. Holt, except that he has been in that section for some weeks.
